Vinto, Salt Lake City UT

Posted by SLCFoodie

If Salt Lake City's new wood-fired pizzeria, Vinto, were in human form it would be a tall, dark and handsome man. Maybe have a good European accent and be active in some sport like rowing. Or maybe it would be a dashing musician ready to serenade you with his beautiful voice.

Vinto is clearly the full package of what it takes to be a good restaurant in the Salt Lake dining scene. Prices: affordable. Service: quick and friendly. Food: fresh and tasty. Atmosphere: trendy yet comfortable.

In many reviews, people have mentioned that Salt Lake already has enough pizza restaurants. In my opinion, Vinto stands alone. I think Settebello has a completely different setting and style of pizza than Vinto, being more traditional Italian. Also the Pie, as well as other local favorites, all have their distinct qualities that make them successful.

A few notable things about this pizzeria: all servers are equipped with the latest technology to take your order and before they even leave your table your order is sent to the cook. Thus you don't have to wait forever to get your pizza. Even so, they don't rush you to get in and out but provide you with quick satisfaction. They

What I've tried: appetizers: artichokes & bruchetta

Pizza: The Regina, chicken and wild mushroom, and The Patate, thinly sliced Yukon potato, fontina and goat cheese, rosemary, wild arugula and white truffle oil.
Dessert: Gelato Sampler, which comes with little scoops of all of their gelato flavors plus a few cookies, a fun dessert to share.

My recommend: The Patate Pizza
and the pomegranate gelato

Prices: $8-$12

Vinto's is everything you've said. I loved the pizza with the carmalized onion and pancetta- wish I could remember the name. And the gelato is really quite excellant.
