Vinto

Posted on May 2, 2011 by camellia

Ever since moving to Salt Lake we've heard nothing but good things about Vinto. So we finally went and it was just as great as we've been told. The atmosphere and design of the restaurant is chic and impressive. The food is delicious and they customized my pizza with a gluten-free crust. My respect for a restaurant always goes up when they cater to my crowd.

The waiters have a small device on their hips where they place your orders, and then ring you out. The system is pretty cool, but if you want a quick addition to your meal, like tomato sauce on the side, it has to go through the whole system. (I didn't get my sauce until I was almost done with the meal.) It was very good though, and we will be back in the future.
